A Touching Story

By Sarah A. Young

My son and I read this book together because he was supposed to read it for his 6th grade class and he was not interested in it. In the end, we both enjoyed the story. I believe it would be better suited to a fourth or fifth grade student, but the story is touching and really hits home for children of divorce. The story is set up as a series of letters from the boy to Mr. Henshaw, an author. As the boy grows, his letters become more mature and he eventually begins writing in a journal instead of writing letters. The ending is warm and pleasant; although not a typical "happy ending." I would recommend this story to any young person who enjoys realistic fiction or who has experienced a divorce or a feeling of loneliness.

Good Book!

By Mason

If you want to read a good book you should read dear Mr. Henshaw. It's an AR book and it's a really excellent book to read it's easy and doesn't take a long time to read.

The book dear Mr. Henshaw is about a young boy named Leigh whose dad is a trucker and his dad lives in a trailer park with his dog named Bandit. Leigh lives in a cottage with his mom in Bakersfield, California Leigh is going to a new school and in the beginning of the book he has no friends except the janitor named Mr. Fridley. And he has a problem which is a person who keeps on stealing the good stuff out of his lunch and he tries to catch that person by doing a lot of things like taping his lunch bag together and by putting an alarm system on his lunch bag. All through the book Leigh writes to a famous author and they write back and forth almost every day.

My favorite part was when Leigh saw his Dad and Bandit. I liked the book because it was exciting to read. It will make you never want to stop.
