A space and science fiction fantasy story set in the 4th millennium.

It is 3260 AD when Earth itself is partly destroyed by nuclear wars and environmental disasters. There is a tremendous advancement in interplanetary travel communications and in the health and medical fields. There are robots which are very well developed and the inter-galactic net evolved from the internet of the 3rd millennium. There is a great increase in longevity though the Earth itself is less developed than other planetary colonies. Many humans have migrated and to other planets and developed colonies in the Galaxy.

Hani Amrapali, a scientist working in the faculty of Bio medical Engineering in the Indica Central University of Central Asia has a recurring dream about a beautiful woman of Mars and travels to Mars to find her, spending his life time's savings on the voyage. There he finds that there are two established colonies one of humans and the other of the mysterious wizards of Red Plains... He enters the Red Plains looking for Sayoni who is his dream girl but is caught by the Evil Emperor of wizards, Samura her father...

He is then recruited for a difficult mission by Samura to the Mount Olympus on Mars commanding a crew of interplanetary members with magical powers under the threat of death or imprisonment...

Will he succeed ...his dream shattered and caught in a war between humans and wizards and hunted by both of them ...?

A fantastic story of space adventure war thrills magic and unbelievable future..with both science and magic highly developed in the future.

Definitely a different read

By Freedom Wrighter

But I enjoyed it. It was kind of a science fiction meets wizards of old. I thought the author did a decent job of blending it with comedy to make it a light fun read.
